FM CONWAY HELPS A CHURCH IN NEED

A church in the City of Westminster, London, that was struggling to find the funds for urgent car park repairs has been given a helping hand by highways maintenance contractor FM Conway.

The car park at St John's, Kensal Green, was left badly damaged when potholes appeared because of the severe winter weather – leaving the Parish struggling to find a way to repair it.

When FM Conway heard about the plight, the team offered its time and expertise to completely resurface the space at the front of the church.

Michael Conway, managing director of FM Conway, commented: "As a company, we do an awful lot of work in the City of Westminster and we try and lend our support to the community wherever possible.

"The church of St John's does a great deal in the surrounding area and we were more than happy to help when they found themselves in difficulty. I'm delighted to see that the car park has now been restored and that the congregation has easy access to the church once again."

Parish priest Father Andrew Dangerfield commented: "On behalf of the Parochial Church Council, and the entire congregation at Saint John's, I'd like to express heartfelt thanks FM Conway for its work in resurfacing the car park to such a high standard. Great people, great work!"

And Simon Walton, secretary of the South East Bayswater Resident's Association, added: "I know that people were seriously worrying about how to deal with the terrible pot holes following our very cold winter. Thanks go to FM Conway."
