

FM Conway strengthens senior leadership team with appointment of new Managing Director

Leading infrastructure services company FM Conway has appointed James Tallon to the role of Managing Director to strengthen its senior leadership team.

James now takes on strategic responsibility for delivering highways maintenance solutions across the capital with our local authority clients and Transport for London.

James brings a wealth of knowledge to the team, with over 18 years' experience within the industry. James began his career as an FM Conway Highways Apprentice in the London Borough of Merton, the business' longest-standing term maintenance contract and has been instrumental in building collaborative partnerships as the Term Maintenance Director.

James Tallon, Managing Director at FM Conway, commented on his new position:

"I am truly delighted to take on the challenge of this new role and will continue to build on FM Conway's fantastic partnerships and initiatives to take the business forward."

"By working together, we can ensure that London remains a world class destination with technology and sustainability at the heart of everything we do."

Adam Green, FM Conway CEO, commented on his new position:

"James' appointment further strengthens our senior leadership team to help support our future strategy."

"He has been an instrumental part of our success as a business for so many years now and his knowledge and understanding of our London clients will be fundamental to our future success."
